June 21

- I have no regrets, just a bit worried. I just want for everything to work out okay. I completely trust my own judgement & knew that I made the right decision. I just hope that the end justifies the means.

I just want to know what the future will hold for me. I guess I will soon see.

- This is the happiest that I have been in a very long time. I hope that my happiness will continue to grow.

- I've made new friends that I really like. I've surrounded myself with good people.

- I am finally happy, let's just hope that it doesn't change.
